BRENDA FOXWELL ELECTED S. G. A. PRESIDENT

Brenda Foxwell

S. G. A. CANDIDATES NOMINATED

Candidates were nominated for the various S.G.A. offices last Tuesday during the assembly hour. Wayne Towers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Towers Jr. of Cambridge, Maryland, was nominated for the office of vice-president. He is presently serving as treasurer of the Student Government Association. Active also in athletics, Wayne has played intramural and varsity basketball and intramural football. A member of the Cultural Affairs Committee, he is presently enrolled in the junior high curriculum.

Duties of the vice president include serving in the absence of the President, and acting as Chairman of the Elections Committee.

The candidate for secretary is Miss Jacquelyn Dickerson, the daughter of Mrs. Gladys Dickerson of Salisbury. Jackie is currently serving as sophomore representative to the Student Government Association. She has participated in intramural sports and was a member of the varsity basketball team this year. Among the duties of the secretary are the recording of minutes of all meetings of the S.G.A., S.G.A. Board, and S.G.A. Executive Committee, recording of attendance at meetings, handling of all S.G.A. correspondence, keeping all S.G.A. records in a central location, and collecting and distributing all annual reports of outgoing major officers.

The Treasurer must direct and administer all financial affairs of the S.G.A. and follow a record-keeping system acceptable to the administration. He serves as

On March 17, the Student Government Association Election Committee announced that Miss Brenda Foxwell, class of '62, was elected as S.G.A. President for the 1961-1962 term.

Miss Foxwell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foxwell of Vienna, Maryland. She was graduated from North Dorchester High School in 1958 and enrolled in the junior high school curriculum here at Salisbury State Teachers College the following September.

From the beginning of her college career, Miss Foxwell has participated in many and varied activities. In her freshman year, she was Secretary of the Freshman Class, and during her sophomore year she was Secretary of the Student Government Association. She is much acquainted with the athletic program since she has played on both the intramural and varsity basketball and volleyball teams.

Miss Foxwell is presently Vice-President of Student Government Association and of the Women's Athletic Association. She is also a participant in the Wesley Foundation.

In an interview with this writer, Miss Foxwell urged that all students consider the Student Government Association as an organization as one dedicated to serving the interests of its student members. As with all organizations, the S.G.A. can be only as effective as its supporting members.

CIRCLE K HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

On Sunday, March 26, the State Teachers College Circle K Club held Open House to all the student body of the College. The Open House was to acquaint our fellow students with the meeting room of the Club and for a College social. Refreshments were served to the guests.

A project which is now underway is the Employment Bureau which is open to ALL STUDENTS OF THE COLLEGE. The Circle K project committee has contacted the Ocean City Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce of Salisbury. This employment bureau will attempt to aid ALL STUDENTS in finding summer employment and part time jobs in the Salisbury area during the regular College year. Further news of this project will be forthcoming.

The Circle K Club members hope that all who attended the Open House had an enjoyable afternoon.

Barbara Streett

Gordon Gladden

Best Man and Woman Athletes Chosen

Miss Barbara Streett and Mr. Gordon Gladden have recently been selected the best athletes of the year.

Miss Streett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Streett, Jr. of Street, Maryland, is currently enrolled in elementary education.

She has participated in all girls' varsity sports and intramurals. These include basketball, volleyball, hockey, and fencing. She is also a member of the bowling league. She was this year's captain of the varsity basketball team and is currently president of the Women's Athletic Association. Barbara not only plays sports but assists in refereeing school and local games. She has formerly been on the Women's Dormitory Council and Junior representative to the Christmas Dance.

Mr. Gordon Gladden, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Gladden, is from Chance, Maryland. Gordon has shown outstanding athletic ability in many men's sports. He has played varsity soccer in both his freshman and sophomore years and varsity basketball in his sophomore year. He participated in intramural basketball and softball and is a member of the Gym Club. Other activities include past President of the Freshman class and Duchess' escort to the May Court.

The woman's title is awarded to that girl who has accumulated the greatest number of W.A.A. points at the time the award is given. The men's title is chosen by officers of the Men's Athletic Association with the requirement that the man must have participated in varsity sports.

Congratulations are due to both these students who well deserve their athletic titles.

"MAYHEM" STILL DEVELOPING

"Mayhem," the struggling infant depicted in the preceding issue of the Holly Leaf, is starting to reach the realm of maturity. Added towards its development is a wealth of fresh new ideas as presented and planned by a representative group of students. As May 6th moves ever closer, the various committees have been meeting quite regularly and will continue to do so until all prospective plans have been nurtured into a reality.

Script Committee Organized

One such committee is the script committee. Composed of members from all the classes, the group was organized to provide different ideas centered around various phases of college life.

Members Present Ideas

The script committee is divided into four smaller committees representing the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes. Each branch has presented its individual ideas congruent to its respective class status.

Margie Lomax, Doris Trapkin, Terry Sterling, and Jim Whaley—the freshmen members—have decided to incorporate Orientation, dormitory life, a scene from biology class, and the 12 o'clock curfew rule into their part of the program.

Sophomore members of the committee, Jackie Dickerson, Linda Dentz, and Wayne Towers, have suggested imitations by members of the student body of a few specially selected sophomore instructors and the girls' folk dancing classes.

Junior committee members, Noel Farmer and Luke Fennell, will base their part of the program on the case studies from psychology and the music fundamentals course.

Rounding out the committee are seniors Jeanne Gladden, Norma Baker, and Robert Fitzgerald. They have suggested student teaching, seminars, and graduation as senior contributions to Mayhem.

In addition, Dr. Whitney and Hazel Joy have composed several songs especially for the occasion.

Thus, Mayhem's foundation is complete, but its success depends upon everyone's interested support.

CHINA - A Part Of The U. N.?

By Ken Roberts

There is much agitation now for asking Red China into the U. N. Britain has made it clear that she is opposed to the ostricising of China. English spokesmen point out that "Red" China is China and not a part of the Formosa government in any sense. China is the largest nation in the world with some 700 million people. She has grown phenomenally in every aspect since World War II and certainly is a part of the world with power to make herself heard. She is fast becoming a power to reckon with in the fields of world politics, world trade and commerce, and ability to possess Atomic weapons. China has recently made herself known by criticizing the USSR in certain political philosophy of the Communist bloc. She has gained the backing of many political parties in Japan and other Asian Nations. China has arrived; now what shall we do about it?

The prevailing attitude in the U. S. toward admitting China into the world body has, so far, been generally negative. We have stated reasons of morality as a main defensive argument. And, there is no doubt that China has exhibited quite an array of belligerent behavior. Intervention in Korea and Viet Nam, the imprisonment of missionary personnel, the war atrocities conducted against Americans in Korea, and the alleged mistreatment and annihilation of Chinese by their own government — all this and more has occurred and remains condemned by all the world. However, unfavorable sentiment is not a rational way to arrive at a policy for China. Realism must persist to the forefront when discussing this issue. China is here to stay!

Perhaps an unconditional invitation is unwise, but certainly we should not consider shutting the door of entry entirely. China needs to be watched now more than ever, and maybe this can be done better from a UN vantage point. Any negotiation for Nuclear disarmament is going to have to consider the role of China. If any success comes in the Atomic inspection plan, it would be folly to exclude China. It is impossible for the UN to control or ever influence any nation that is not a member.

The U. S. should grant China the chance to enter the UN but on some conditional basis. This is the opportunity to test the Chinese on several points. We can find out if they really want to join the UN, perhaps negotiate a settlement on Formosa and the surrounding islands, gain insight into the alleged Chinese - USSR split and watch Russia's reactions. All events will take place before the eyes of the world and much favorable propaganda may be gained by the U. S.

It is true that these and other points are debatable. It is impossible to know what is really the most intelligent move. However, one important point must be repeated. China is a world power, and the fact that she is Communistic makes no difference as far as UN qualification goes. To try and pretend China doesn't exist, to exclude her from the UN, a world governing body, seems to be just a bit ridiculous.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the student body for the interest it showed in the recent S.G.A. election. Since 93% of the students voted, it indicates that interest and spirit was high.

I would also like to give recognition to my opponent, Luther Fennell, for his fine campaign. He and his campaign committee deserve a great deal of credit for stimulating interest and getting the students out to vote.

Having been elected, I would like to thank the students for putting their confidence in me. I am aware of the responsibility that accompanies this office and, will to the best of my ability and with your continued support, see that it is executed to the best interest of the students.

Sincerely,
Brenda Foxwell

USE EASTER STIALS!

Thinking
Out
Loud

Things are really hopping here at ole STC. Tests seem to be habitual and elections ever-increasing. There are more tired students and more homesick students than at any other time of the year. Between taking tests, checking ballots, and eating liver I'd say the student was getting the worst of it.

Well, after vacation there will only be about eight weeks left, and they'll zoom by. They say the older you get the faster time flies. I'll have to ask Dr. Wroten to verify that statement.

The gym team certainly put on an excellent show last Tuesday. The crowd was tremendous, and

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is not the policy of the Holly Leaf to print unsigned letters, but in this case the editor felt that the following letter and reply warranted printing to exemplify the contrast between true logic and misconstrued facts.

Mr. William Cotten
State Teachers College
Salisbury, Maryland
Mister Cotten,

This letter is written in regard to your statement in the issue of the HOLLY LEAF on March 17. My question to you is, "How do you propose to 'wake us'?"

Many of the students know that the seventh period is devoted to assemblies. We also know that the snack bar ceases to function but the library does not always do likewise. During several of the past assemblies, the library has remained open. And you ask, "What is the assembly attendance so poor?"

The above is ove (sic) reason. Another is the lack of notification to students that there is to be an assembly. Many of the students whom I spoke had no knowledge (sic) of such an assembly on March 17. One way of having the students know that something is going to happen is the SGA and its duties. Many of us have just found out that we are all members. It was thought of as just a small group of students in the upper classes to keep the other students in line.

The Cultural Affairs Committee should give students events to appreciate besides concerts. A chorus is fine, but how many students are able to neglect (sic) their studies (or lunches) to enter the auditorium to sing? What's the use of religious organizations if they have no meetings? Besides, should you HAVE these organizations? I don't think students have enough religious sermons, etc., by attending church on Sundays (if they attend). As for varsity sports, do we have any? Basketball is the only I have heard of. If there are others, are you hiding them in the closet?

When voting, do you think the main hall is the place to set the voting table? Most of the students can bypass it. Why not set it elsewhere?

Yes, this college is dead. Where is all the spirit the students are not speaking about? Tell the SGA to get out the needles and inject them into the college organizations and students AND faculty.

I agree with you. LET'S WAKE UP !!

Dear Writer and Student Body,

In this article I will attempt to clarify, if not answer, some of the problems and questions brought up in the letter above. First, all, I want to congratulate the person or persons who wrote the letter for reading the paper and for showing interest.

The first question concerns the assemblies and their attendance. My article was not aimed primarily at the S.G.A. assembly or any other particular assembly, but at our assemblies in general. If an assembly, be it sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee or not, is scheduled in advance and these schedules are posted on the bulletin boards, in the Student Center, as you go to the dining hall, and in the Snack Bar. How often do you read them? The library closes every assembly, so scheduled, as does the snack bar. If an assembly is not posted in advance, you have good grounds for complaint, but that is the fault of the individual or organization in charge, not the Cultural Affairs Committee. Not every assembly is sponsored by this group. As for the S.G.A. assembly in particular, it and other student assemblies are not sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee but are conducted by a campus organization. It was scheduled and advertised on the bulletin boards, and passed by "word of mouth" through the student body. If you are looking for someone to blame for the poor attendance, blame those who fail to keep abreast of the schedule of events.

The second question concerns the S.G.A. I refer you to the HOLLY LEAF BOOK FOR STUDENTS, page 71. This again is negligence on the part. Just how many have read the handbook or used it to answer any questions that may arise in your minds? It is opinions, like you concluded, which hurt instead of help our campus. As this goes, most all of your questions can be answered by referring to the little yellow book you found placed on your desks the first day of school arrived in the fall. Another thing to understand is that we are not the "Gestapo" of S.T.C. Each class has S.G.A. representatives with equal voting power, plus a member on the Social Affairs Committee. Some upper-classmen have the chore of enforcing regulations in the two dorms, but these regulations were enforced long before you or I arrived here and are mandatory for the running of an efficient campus.

Spotlights
Sports

Intramurals are going good now, with Kay Ramoser's team looking unbeatable. Even a man-to-man guard on Kay, who is doing most of the scoring, seems to be of no avail. Team work is essential, however, and it is something this team by no means lacks. It's just a good team, and one which shows extremely good sportsmanship! Maybe all the rest of the teams better examine themselves to see if this quality exists for them too!

Comedy is by no means lacking in the intramurals this year — especially in the games in which Bonnie Dean and Dottie Seward play. Dottie has a habit of crawling in between people's legs, and Bonnie — well, you can ask Bonnie what happened to her at a recent intramural game.

The gym team indeed deserves congratulations on a superb exhibition. Coach Maggs and the performers deserve a lot of credit, for

PERSONALITIES

Three juniors come into the spotlight this month as outstanding sports personalities are recognized. All of these girls have been active in more than one sport and in other activities as well as athletics.

Brenda Foxwell, vice-president of the S.G.A. and president of this organization next year, hails to STC from North Dorchester. A member of the varsity volleyball and basketball teams, Brenda has been much action this year. She is also vice-president of the Women's Athletic Association, thus showing her interest in athletics even more.

Betty Quimby is another personality worthy of recognition. As the goalie on the jayvee hockey team, Betty played superbly — especially at the University of Maryland where she was named an outstanding player this past fall. She was also a member of the jayvee basketball team, which, although it did not have a very good win-loss record, possessed good sportsmanship. Serving as one of the co-captains of both of these teams proves that the girls' opinion of this young lady is quite high too.

Betty's hands are full this year since she serves on the W.A.A. Board as manager of the bowling league. Organizing teams, promoting attendance, and figuring averages of all the members and the teams are just a few of her many chores.

She is also active in the Christian Association, the college chorus, and intramurals (both boys

Heathcliffs — Intramural Champs;
Deadeyes Clinch Playoffs

In a playoff game between Captain Jerry Wilson's Heathcliffs and Martin Davis' Free Loaders, the regular season's championship of our Intramural league was decided. When the battle flags had been lowered, Wilson's five were on top with a 6-2 won and loss record, while the Free Loaders finished with a 5-2 log. Big gun for the winners was Wilson, while the runners-up had two front-line men who carried the brunt of the Free Loaders attack. These were Martin Davis and Ed Starkey.

After the regular league championship was decided, a round-robin playoff was held between the teams. Winner in this was Chester Davis' Deadeyes who licked the Free Loaders in overtime and on Thursday won the playoff championship by defeating the league champions.

The league proved to be just as close as had been anticipated, and the only dark spot was the forfeiture of one of the playoff games by Lobdell's squad. He simply could not round up enough players, and this was unfortunate. In an over-all analysis, the league fared very well under the leadership of Freddy Distler, whose ability to secure referees, timers, scorekeepers, and to keep the league flowing smoothly is to be commended. Statistics on league leaders in the point scoring race, etc. are not yet available, but should be at the next Hollyleaf printing.

MAGGSMEN THRILL
STUDENT BODY

Our gym, filled to the point where there was no standing room, was the site for last Tuesday's Assembly. The student body, plus the faculty and many outsiders, were enthralled with the thrilling exhibition of skill and daring given by the gym squad. The program was opened with a marching demonstration, and then each member of the squad began to display their skills on the parallel bars, tumbling, high horizontal bar, Long Horse and mini-tramp, and trampoline. The caliber of the show could only be called professional, and it is felt by many that a repeat performance would be welcomed and greatly appreciated.

Since late fall the gym squad, consisting of Gordon Gladden, Roland Hayman, Robert Kay, Neil Lecompte, Les Milbourne, Ronald Nelson, Joe North, Addison Smith, James Whaley, Don Willey, Richard Wilson, Joan Marth, Donna McCorkle, Sandra Miller, Julie Spedden, and Ginger Stellges, has been practicing diligently. Although one could never tell it by the assembly, some of these people did not have any previous experience before coming to S.T.C.

Why so many skilled gymnasts in such a short time? The answer to this question may be found in three words, Coach Benn Maggs. Coach could be found at all hours of the night or day instructing and giving pointers in his friendly, encouraging way. Add to this his vast knowledge of the gymnastical realm plus the cooperation of the gym team, and one gets an equation whose solution could only be an excellent assembly performance by a very skilled group of performers.

Leaving the gym team and spotlighting Coach, one is constantly aware of two outstanding qualities. The first is versatility to a very large degree. The second is an over abundance of personality.

A list of his interests may be given as evidence of his versatility. One of these is music. While in college he played the sax in an orchestra. An adept "hi fi" expert, he and Mr. A. L. Fleming built the high fidelity set in the social room. Another interest is found in and girls). As president of the Canterbury Club, she also serves. One thing of which you can be sure — if something needs to be done, just ask Betty; if she can't do it, she'll see that it's done.

Susan Waller is another woman athlete whose abilities should also be noticed. Left inner of the varsity hockey team and guard on the varsity basketball team, Sue's extracurricular activities are mainly in the athletic field; however, she is a member of the Canterbury Club, also.

Murrell's
Mayhem

NOW THAT OUR . . . men's intramural basketball has gone by the board, one must turn his thoughts to Spring and to what all young men's fancies turn . . . softball and baseball. If old Mr. Weather would prove willing, it would be nice if we could get an earlier jump on our intramural softball league. Last year's league was a booming success, and the man that is chosen to supervise the league (as Distler did in basketball) will really have something at which to shoot. Last year we were limited to a smaller amount of games than was desirable, but if it were possible to work in an additional three or four games this year, the participants would be a little happier.

THIS WRITER . . . was fortunate to be a spectator at the NIT basketball semi-finals held in New York City and is convinced that despite its many ills and unfavorable publicity received as a result of the latest point shaving scandals, big time college sports are the thing! The enthusiasm exhibited by the four schools was a sight to behold and leads one to question whether athletics instills school spirit or whether school spirit builds such athletics. For sure, both go hand in hand.

THE GYM EXHIBITION . . . given on Tuesday of last week was well received by the students, but Bob Kay did give quite a few of the folks a scare when he released his grip in the intricate giant maneuver on the high bar. Luckily, he wasn't hurt; so all's well that ends well.

A THANK YOU . . . to the W.A.A. for the nice letter. Thanks gals, and you are certainly welcomed. It was our pleasure.

UNDERSTAND . . . that this week the women are going to do a little working out on our new trampoline. All I can say is, good luck!

See ya next time . . . —M.

the political science realm. One can well remember during the presidential elections his sound political reasons as to why his candidate was the best man, and then later why his candidate was second best in vote total.

The second outstanding quality, which needs no explanation or details to those of us who know Coach Maggs is his excellent personality. Proof of this is that his severest critics will invariably never start their criticism without saying, "Coach is a great fellow, but . . ." Always friendly and jovial, Coach will usually leave them laughing after any discussion no matter how serious it may be.

S.T.C. Students Attend Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, in N. Y.

Dr. Lelia Stevens and Mr. James D. DiVirgilio accompanied four students from STC to the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools For Teachers meeting, which was held in New York City on March 23-25. Representing the local SNEA were four juniors: Bill Wheatley, Ruth Cooling, Jackie Davis, and Paul Murrell.

Over 700 students and faculty delegates from the New England states, the Eastern States, and the District attended the meeting. The Association received special greetings from the President of the United States, John F. Kennedy; Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Abraham Rubicoff; and the governors of the states, including Governor J. Millard Tawes of Maryland.

President Kennedy, in a special telegram to the conference, re-emphasized the importance of professional schools for teachers. He said, "Just as the teacher is in a key position to assist students in their search for truth and in their use of what they learned, so professional schools for teachers are in a position of even greater responsibility in shaping the future . . ."

Speakers at the conference included Dr. Robert Poppendieck, Specialist for Teacher Education, Office of Education; Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer, author and social worker; and Dr. Carl F. Hansen, Superintendent of Schools, Washington, D. C.

The highlight of the conference was the talk given by Mrs. Meyer. In a speech aimed at the federal aid for education controversy, Mrs. Meyer spared no words in her criticism of the Catholic hierarchy for their unwise attempts to push federal aid for parochial schools down the throats of the American public. She was quick to point out that their present efforts could lead only to increased prejudice against their church, in a country that a few years ago was their potential Catholic stronghold. Whether one agreed with Mrs. Meyer or not, he could not help but be thrilled with her outspoken and enlightening comments.

After the general sessions, the pupils attended various committees and discussed the varied aspects of the teaching profession. Each was encouraged to present views in context with his situation. Much was gained by our students, in particular the learning of how other schools operate. Basically, they found that other colleges have done two things which theirs had not: 1—The word "Teacher's" had been dropped from their school's name; 2—The student groups carried far more weight on campus than did our local ones.

Treasurer of the S.G.A. Board and the S.G.A. Executive Committee which means he submits a budget request and keeps financial record of S.G.A. sponsored affairs or expenditures. Candidates for this office are Sara Nichols, a Sophomore, and Jim Whaley, a freshman.

Sara Nichols, daughter of Mr. J. I. Nichols of Alexandria, Louisiana, is enrolled in the junior high curriculum. She is a member of the Evergreen staff, Science Club, and Canterbury Club. Sara also has participated in basketball intramurals.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Whaley of Delmar, Maryland, Jim is a history major enrolled in high school education. He is currently serving as vice president of the freshman class and was vice president of the Student Council in high school. Jim has participated in intramural sports and is a member of the Gym Club.

Noel Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tomlin Farmer of Salisbury, is the nominee for Chairman of the Social Committee. He was freshman representative of the Social Committee and is currently editor of the Holly Leaf. Noel has played intramural sports, varsity basketball, and was a member of the bowling league and the S.G.A. Board in his sophomore year. He is presently enrolled in the junior high curriculum.

Included in the duties of Social Committee Chairman is supervisor over all the major dances and snack bar activities and organizer of certain social affairs.

many hours were spent in preparing for their meets and in mastering their skills.

How about Bill Elliott and John Hanson? Personally, I didn't think Bill Elliott had it in him to be a clown; he's always so quiet in class and talks even in the snack bar very seldom, except about sports. These guys almost stole the show.

The basketball squads and Dr. Whitney enjoyed a delicious dinner at the home of Charlotte Jones last week. This was really a treat, and everyone seemed to enjoy it.

Basketball season is over again for another year, and I'm sure the members of this team and of the hockey squad almost regret to see the end of the seasons come, for that means no more away games. This means that we no longer get to see our favorite bud driver, Mr. Hall.

Mr. Hall was always in the stands or on the sidelines, cheering us on to victory, or sharing with us the burden of losing. Speaking for all the team players, I'm sure I can say that we enjoyed having him along with us, and we hope we get him back again next year!

Plans are in the making for another festive May Day. According to Dr. Whitney, the theme this year will be developed around the Southern Colonial days.

See you next issue . . . Fitz

Now for the Cultural Affairs Committee, chorus, and religious organizations — once again I can refer you to the handbook. So this year the Cultural Affairs Committee has presented:

1. Three Baltimore Symphony Concerts at night and corresponding childrens' concerts in the afternoon.
2. The Second Army Band
3. Two Convocations
4. The Wi Hi Glee Club
5. A Christmas program with Miss Audrey Stewart
6. Dialogue Series with panel of faculty members
7. Panel of students carrying on dialogue on "stupidity"
8. Mr. Orlando Wootten on Mediterranean Area
9. Art exhibit in December
10. Gym exhibit
11. Alec Templeton
12. Student Concert
13. "Twelfth Night"
14. Mr. A. D. Emmart in conjunction with Phi Alpha Theta

Each one of these events was publicized in the cafeteria, boxes, bulletin boards, and the Holly Leaf.

If you desire more, the best thing to do is voice your opinion your student representative if you know who he or she is. The Chorus is a voluntary organization which meets during a period free to students, who desire to belong. For those members who, because Chorus would not get lunch, dismissal is at 11:40 A.M. If your studies are more important, by all means don't join, but it seems to me there are already about 70 students neglecting their work. The religious organizations are open to anyone who wants to attend. They do have meetings. I again refer you to the handbook, page . . . Their meetings are posted on the bulletin boards, and if they neglect they are not, you once again have a basis for argument. However, one night every week is set aside for their meetings that night is Wednesday.

Your question concerning varsity sports (which sex?) cannot be answered by yours truly. Surely, if you've read past issues, you know there is a desire to promote more varsity athletics, but the key to that "closet" is hard to find! All I can say is have plenty of patience and keep promoting your interest to see that things are done. member, it takes a lot of noise to make a little yell.

As for your last question, if it was put elsewhere, could we give you your assurance you still wouldn't by-pass it? In the last election it didn't by-pass it and should now know what it is for.

In conclusion I would like to say I appreciated hearing someone's point of view even if that someone remains cowardly anonymous. Their last sentence makes a suggestion I cannot and the S.G.A. cannot fulfill, but YOU can. Don't sit back and say this or that should be done. Help it to be accomplished yourself. I can't wake you up can the S.G.A., or anyone else, but it sounds as if someone should.

Your attitude is drugged with opium and as long as you sit in seclusion and take "pot shots" at the various aspects of campus life you will remain asleep.

Science Club Plans Fossil-Hunting Trip In Calvert County

The Science Club, an extremely active organization this year, has planned to explore certain regions in Calvert County for the purpose of locating and classifying fossils.

They will leave at six o'clock Sunday morning, April 16th, for their three hour drive, planning to stop for breakfast in Easton. Driving four cars, the club plans to include 18 of their members. Should extra room be available, interested students other than club members who wish to attend this trip may do so.

At the next meeting of the Science Club, members Robert Kay, Sara Nichols, and Cooky Harbaugh will present special reports on fossils in order that a better understanding of the elements of "fossil-hunting" may be acquired.

the athletic ability displayed certainly speaks well of STC.

Any ideas dealing with "them" would certainly be appreciated. The production seems to be making headway. It certainly is adding more confusion to an already confused scene. Really, the whole show should prove to be entertaining. Remember, it is held on May 6 of this year. make arrangements to stay away from home.

This is about the time of year when the seniors finally realize they like good ole STC. Its not that bad, they say. You hear their comments as, "I still don't know what a unit is," or "I'm sure going to miss Frank's."

How are those map tests coming? Have you discovered where ANAGOLASLIMB is? Keep trying! Its not that bad, but its helpful. Just think, how many people do you think live where Salisbury is?

Governor Tawes does, I know
